COMPOSER NOTES

This is one of the responsorial psalms (the text is actually from 1 Chronicles) in the Lectionary for the Common of the Anniversary of the Dedication of a Church (703.1), but also usable as a general praise piece. It was originally written for the first Roman Catholic Mass to take place since the Reformation in the (now Anglican) cathedral at Wells, Somerset.

Originally scored for SATB, assembly, organ, and optional brass, the present adaptation for women's voices and assembly was made for the Golden Jubilee of Profession of Sr. Fidelis, a Poor Clare sister at Arundel, Sussex.

Refrain: Choir/All

We praise your glo - rious name, O Lord.

Verses 1-4: Choir

- | | |
|---|--|
| 1. Blessed are you, O Lord, the God of Israel our father, for ever, for ages unending. 2. Yours, Lord, are greatness and pow'r and splendor and triumph and glory.
All is yours in heav'n and on earth. | 3. Yours, O Lord, is the kingdom, you are supreme over all.
Both honor and riches come from you. 4. You are the ruler of all,
from your hand come strength and pow'r,
from your hand come greatness and might. |
