Composer Notes

The communal act of singing helps connect us more deeply to the divine gift of love we receive during the liturgy of the Eucharist. With its tranquil refrain and flowing melody, "The Living God" gently invites the assembly to engage in singing as one voice within the community of Christ. Until the assembly becomes more familiar with the music, choir directors may find it beneficial to introduce the refrain to the assembly and ask a cantor or schola to lead the verses.

As the choir learns this piece, ask them to sing with a gentle feeling of assurance, especially during the verses. With this feeling in mind, the entrance note for each verse should be emphasized (but not accented).
