Composer Notes

Martin Luther King said that those who love peace must learn to organize as effectively as those who love war. As part of my work with CitizensUK (citizensuk.org) I have organized families whose children have been murdered on the streets of London. Working with hundreds of determined young people, we established the 'City Safe' campaign and set up Safe Havens in public buildings and stores across the capital. These havens have protected children and young people from danger and have saved lives. The campaign has rebuilt trust in troubled neighbourhoods, through the dedication of local young people, shopkeepers, police, parents, and other leaders working together. The real acts of heroism are the countless everyday actions of care, responsibility, and hospitality that form a community and bind it together.
